Why Me?

Why will risks impact on your business success or failure?
Why me? Why not you?

What are you doing to mitigate threats or seize business development opportunities?

Working on business risk analysis with others may alert you to quicker gains that are more cost-effective.

Working alone on risk management may enable you to make some good decisions. However, what you miss in your risk analysis could result in you working hard towards missed opportunities at best, and business failure at worst.

Working in our business risk management club shares your workload, brings new ideas to your attention and helps you manage risks better.
